

"CAMMEYER"

STAMPED ON A SHOE
MEANS STANDARD OF MERIT.

The Style Is the Thing.

This season presents more radical departures from former shapes than was ever known before in the shoe business.

Our walking pumps afford opportunity for the display of perfect taste in harmonizing and contrasting the shoe with the hosiery.

These pumps are made in patent leather, gun metal kid, white linen, buckskin and suedes; and in all shades of pongee tans and browns. Prices from $3 to $6.00.

It is good form to make absolute blending between hose and shoe, or pretty contrasts of color are correct.

Our customers have the singular advantage of seeing the stocking and the shoes together in making their purchases of us. We carry every leather shade of hosiery both in silk and lisle.

NO TRACE OF FLOYD E. ROCK.

THIS RECORD ALL STRAIGHT, HIS EMPLOYERS SAY.

Agent of Washington Life Insurance Co.
Wrote Home to Malone of Intended
Visit to Chinatown—O'Brien's Sleuths
Watch Empire Hotel—Get No Results.

There was no news yesterday of Floyd E. Rock of Malone, N. Y., who disappeared from the Empire Hotel in this city on Sunday evening and has not been heard of since by any of his friends here or in Malone. Mr. Rock was the general agent of the Washington Life Insurance Company for the northern New York district. He left home a week ago Saturday to make a report to the general office of the company here, which have recently been reorganized. Mr. Rock, according to his relatives in Malone, had about $100 with him when he left there, which he had drawn to meet his expenses for the trip. He left $400 to the credit of the company in Malone and $1,000 to his own credit.

A. M. Hard, the State manager of the Washington Life, telegraphed to Mr. Rock at Malone on Monday morning asking why his appointment at the office of the company here had not been kept. The answer came back that Rock was here and ought to have been at the office of the company some time during the day. Mr. Hard at once called in the detective bureau. Mr. Rock's father, who is an engineer on the Rutland Railroad and a much respected citizen of Malone, came to New York at once with C. E. Castle, a brother of Floyd E. Rock's wife. They brought with them a letter Mr. Rock had written to his wife on Sunday saying he was going to Chinatown that night with a friend, a Mr. E. K. None of Mr. Rock's friends and associates had ever heard of "Mr. Rock" before.

Acting Inspector Stephen O'Brien, with the rare tact and intelligence which have always distinguished him when he has attempted anything more serious than organizing parades of mounted policemen, said offhand that it was very likely that Mr. Rock had been lured out by thieves and drugged and robbed, "but that he would put men on the case and clear it up at once." He did assign two men at once. They put in a reasonable amount of time watching the Empire Hotel, so that if Mr. Rock came back unaided and voluntarily Inspector O'Brien might know of it right away. Whatever work they did elsewhere has as yet yielded no results. A careful investigation of Mr. Rock's past shows that

BETTING PLACES RAIDED.

Commissioner McArdoo Sends Detectives Over to Brooklyn.

Commissioner McArdoo sent several of his sleuths to Brooklyn yesterday to see how well the law was enforced regarding pool selling. The first place they visited was David Lahey's clubhouse at 900 Bedford avenue. Before Lahey realized who the detectives were they had placed him under arrest, charged with accepting bets on the horse races at Benning. They also arrested on the same charge Timothy O'Brien, who is in Lahey's employ. Lahey is 30 years old. He succeeded his father as proprietor of the place. Lahey's saloon is in Capt. Maude's precinct.

Then the sleuths visited the Windsor Cafe, at 1250 Bedford avenue, which is owned by Samuel Cohen. This is the swiftest place of its kind in Brooklyn. They found twenty-six men playing cards, pool and billiards. One of the detectives lifted up the crutch covering of the carpet and found some racing charts and sheets, which were taken away as evidence after the detectives had taken the names and addresses of the twenty-six men. No arrests were present. Cohen was not present.

INSISTED HE WAS A BUM.

Only the Absinthe Makes Him Think So, Said Pretty Wife—Cell for Him.

A good looking young woman, wearing a blue velvet dress and a picture hat to match, went into the Tenderloin police station about 11 o'clock last night, holding the arm of an athletic young man of prosperous appearance. There were several hobo-like men lined up in front of the sergeant's desk and the couple drew back to the rear of the room.

The young man's eyes were bloodshot. The couple argued earnestly together. The young woman keeping hold of her companion's arm. Finally he started to approach the desk. She clung to him and begged him not to go. He broke away from her and, facing the sergeant, said: "Sergeant, look me up. I'm a bum. Look me up, and take care of me."

"What's your name?" inquired the sergeant. "John Smith," replied the young man. Then he added: "That's good enough for me, and I guess it ought to be good enough for you."

The sergeant advised the young man to go home. "No," he insisted, "I'm a bum; look me up."

The woman cried and, clinging to his arm, pleaded with him to go with her. He refused and was led back to a cell. The young woman collapsed for a few minutes, then, approaching the sergeant's desk, she said:

HAYTI MAY ACT.

But Hopes Minister Powell Will Be Recalled Without Her Request.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—There is every indication that further steps will be taken by the Haytian Government before long to secure the removal of William F. Powell, the United States Government's diplomatic representative at Port au Prince. It is understood that the Haytian Government is merely waiting to see if this Government will withdraw Mr. Powell voluntarily, knowing him to be persona non grata. The Haytian Government does not like to ask a Government so much more powerful to withdraw its Minister, but hopes that the United States will recall Mr. Powell without a formal request.

Chief Collector of Santo Domingo Customs Gets His Instructions.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Col. R. G. Colton, Chief Collector of Customs in Santo Domingo, will leave New York for Santo Domingo on Tuesday. He will take with him three men, an accountant, a statistician, and a stenographer and translator. Secretary Taft gave Col. Colton his instructions to-day. The thing Secretary Taft most impressed upon Col. Colton was that he was not an employee of the United States Government, but of the Dominican Government, and subject to orders from President Morales.

Warships Arrive at Santo Domingo.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The cruisers Dixie and Brooklyn have arrived at Monte Cristi, according to information received at the Navy Department. Rear Admiral Sigbee, commanding the Caribbean squadron, will transfer his flag from the cruiser Newark to the Brooklyn. The Newark will be sent to Annapolis for the use of the midshipmen this summer. The Dixie has on board a battalion of marines.
